South Tacoma Station

The South Tacoma station serves Pierce County commuters. The station consists of a long platform adjacent to the tracks, with five shelters to provide cover for commuters as well as ticket kiosks. A parking lot across the tracks holds approximately 220 vehicles.

Mode
Commuter rail, bus

Highlights
Start of service:
Bus service, 2009
Sounder service, 2012

Location: South Adams Street and South 60th Street

Budget: $16.5 million

Funding partners: Sound Transit, Federal Transit Administration, Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission

Planning partners: City of Tacoma, Pierce Transit, South Tacoma Technical Advisory Committee, BNSF, Tacoma Rail

Consultants & contractors
Environmental review: BERGER/ABAM
Preliminary engineering and final design: OTAK
Construction management: URS Corporation
Construction: Gary Merlino Construction for construction

Public art
“Landmark,” two 18-foot tall arches made of steel and stone serve as a gateway and echo the rhythm and movement of the train as it arrives and departs. A third sculpture marks the end of the line. The artist is Ilan Averbuch.